Our "Music Man"

DCJ

At first glance, our bandstand stands empty and bleak in the chill of late March. Consider it again. A flood of memories fills this circle as the sound of music swells from seasons past.

One of the great musical comedies has to be Meredith Willson's "Music Man". He created Howard Hill, a super salesman who appeared in a town in Iowa to sell musical instruments. By exercise of his considerable magic this wonderful fictional character transformed that town and by building a band gave it something very special. The story is familiar to all of us.

We are blessed with the genuine article. When John Pandolfi arrived we had a band. It was a small band and we enjoyed it. How it flowered under his direction. How it grew as his pupils swelled its ranks and the quality of the sound was improved by a personal force that inspired musicians to produce their best and then surpass it. Our crude, unprotected platform, open to the mist and with no ability to reflect sound, was never adequate for this improved group. The new stand, with protection from the elements and sounding board, made a dramatic difference. Now the true tonal quality was reaching the audience. Our years have flown. Our summers have passed on weekly punctuations of good music as we gather each concert evening to enjoy something unique - live music in an open setting by the harbor. By the force of personality, dedication and skill, John Pandolfi has enhanced our summers beyond any practical measure. In the winter, by memorable symphonic concerts, we have been enriched in spirit.

John is recognisable by more people from the back than any other person in the area. He faced the musicians and inspired the very best every week. Under John Pandolfi's baton one facet of our lives was complete. We had excellent music. Our "Music Man" has always been a class act. John and Nancy Pandolfi are friends, neighbors, and we will remember with joy the 25 years of work that was always a labor of love.

AND SKIFF SPACE OWNERSHIP APPLICATION to be kept on file at the Town Clerk's office. The new form will go into effect in 1986.

The major change from a previous form is the note that a copy of the applicant's registration must be submitted with the affidavit. Failure to comply with or misrepresent any of the statements on the affidavit will result in the forfeiture of your wharf or skiff space, as specified in the Town Rules and Regulations.

Mr. and Mrs. Victor Demski attended the meeting and expressed concern that their son's name (Thomas) was mentioned in the letter the Selectmen received from Howard Chadwick regarding the assignment of wharf spaces. Mr. Demski thanked the Selectmen for their apology regarding the printing of Chadwick's letter two weeks ago without a rebuttal. He noted he was glad to see the Selectmen have released a since published item-by-item reply to each of Chadwick's accusations.

In other business, SELECTMEN:

TOLD THE BAND COMMITTEE that if they, collectively, feel there is one strong, qualified person to replace John Pandolfi, town band director, who recently resigned, to let them know. Selectmen Chairman John DeCosta explained that "we (selectmen) do the appointing, but you (the band committee) do the recommending".

DeCosta said Town Counsel Donald Fleming gave the opinion Selectmen should notify the Musicians Union that there is an opening for a band director.

DeCosta noted the Board had received several applications but would wait for any additional applications before making a decision. A joint meeting with the Band Committee in two weeks will be scheduled to appoint a new director to assume the duties as director of the weekly Summer concerts at Shipyard Park. "Time is of the essence", said Doris Kinney, a Band Committee member, "so the new director can have time to rehearse before the opening date of Wednesday, July 3rd."

Selectman Frank Suzan stressed the new person should understand what the salary is. It was agreed a new person should not receive what Pandolfi has been getting after 25 years, but a salary range of $500-$850, depending on the applicants' qualifications, was agreed upon.

Paul Alves, Band Manager, related to Selectmen that "we (Doris Kinney, Theresa Corey, Bruca Rocha and myself) are part of the original Band Committee. We started the drive, got the funds and had the bandstand built." Alves said the committee doesn't have a specific charge from the Board of Selectmen. "Just what is our function? What is our charge regarding responsibilities? What is the function of th the Band Manager? We need some direction," Alves added.

Huntoon asked the committee to put down what they feel should be their duties and ey these will be reviewed with Selectmen at the joint meeting. DeCosta asked Alves just how Pandolfi happened to be chosen as director. Alves said John was available when they needed someone and he was well qualified; no one else was considered. "We recommended him and each Board of Selectmen over the years has continued to appoint him." Alves added that Pandolfi has been conducting through 25 years on a gentlemen's agreement - no contract or official agreements. Huntoon noted this is not appropriate. "We should have a signed agreement and a definite job description without being too complicated," said Huntoon.

Bruce Rocha explained that there are volunteer band members and paid band members. "We are concerned that if a non-paid member should be hurt on the bandstand, what is the town's responsibility?" Selectmen agreed to check with Town Counsel as to the town's liability.

MET WITH STATE REPRESENTATIVE John C. Bradford (R) to discuss areas of concern to the town. Bradford asked the Selectmen to give him information on what space is available at the Industrial Park. DeCosta informed Bradford that the Corporate Park is privately owned; however, the board will contact the Industrial Commission to give him the information he needs.

Huntoon asked "is there a lot of interest up there (Boston) in this area?" Bradford said there is a proposed Marine Science Center that will need, preferably, shoreline space. It could be inland if there is access to the shore, he added. DeCosta commented there isn't much shore property left for a large project.

Bradford also asked "what's happening with the New England Telephone Company?" When Bradford asked if a hearing would help, DeCosta said "we've had meetings with the phone company representatives. They are very nice, but we've had little improvement."

SEMASS is a problem, the chairman said. Bradford said he had no additional information but agreed to do all he could at the state level to help the communities involved in the proposed waste to energy treatment plant to be built in Rochester.

Suzan noted pollution in this area is nowhere near as bad as Fall River, where there are no scrubbers. This requirement could make our tonnage costs rise from $12. to $21. per ton, Suzan said.

Huntoon said he gave credit to SEMASS for hanging in there against the state regulations. There are 35 communities involved and they are all opposed to the increase. "You'd think Governor Dukakis could do more for this many towns," said Huntoon.

HEARD Police Officer Kenneth Pacheco relate the problems that have existed over the years concerning the hazards of deer being hit on North Street. "Last week two deer were killed when they were hit by cars, one head-on by a Cadillac," said Pacheco. A cruiser, at one time, almost hit an 8-point buck. At least 10 deer have been hit; if they don't die immediately, they run off in the woods and either the dogs get them or they die in the woods from exhaustion. "I tried to locate an injured one and followed a well-used deer run, but they must have gone to the Crystal Spring area (their feeding area). It's lucky someone hasn't been hurt yet from the impact." He noted that any fresh killed deer is given to the prisons.

Pacheco acked for a "Deer Crossing" sign to be placed on North Street. He noted there are towns where he has seen signs painted on the roads like a crosswalk sign, designating a deer crossing. He felt this would be more effective. Selectmen agreed to check with the State Department of Public Works to see if it is a local option to place such a sign. If it is the town's right, DeCosta said, "we will have Manuel Nunes, Highway Surveyor, put up a sign."

PETITIONS GRANTED FOR APARTMENTS

Business versus housing was the way the Mattapoisett Zoning Board of Appeals Chairman Robert Black put it last Tuesday when the board deliberated for four hours before giving the green light to two multi-housing plans for opposite ends of Route 6. "If you say you can't have multi-family houses in town, you have to have a good reason", said Black. "And I can't find any."

Despite the pleas of persons living in the area of the McIntire and Chase project that it would create a traffic problem, open the door for more development and lose a major green belt, the board granted the petition of Russell W. Chase, Jr. and David J. McIntire to build five buildings on five lots, each of which will contain four units. The property is owned by Frank Sylvia and Dennis Mahoney and Sons, and is located on the north side of Fairhaven Road between River Road and Brandt Island Road.

Although McIntire and Chase said they plan to rent their apartments for about $600. per month, board member George Heinz said he anticipated it would be nearer to $800. per month.

The McIntire and Chase proposal must be reviewed by the Mattapoisett River Valley Protection Association. Edward J. Walsh, board member, expressed the opinion that the track records of other communities have started with one development and before you know it you are overrun with them, but he agreed the board has to go by the book in making a decision. As the area is zoned for General Business, board members felt they wouldn't know what kind of business might want to come there in the future.

The second petition of William A. Wood to build four buildings in an open area on the north side of Route 6 across from the Mattapoisett Pharmacy was granted, with certain conditions. A proposal to construct five buildings was denied because part of his property is zoned for rural residence and part for general business. Wood will have to pay for an extension of the sewer lines because the area is not suitable for septic systems.

Wood's permit allows him to build four buildings with the bottom floor of each building to be used as office or retail space. A total of eight one-bedroom and eight two-bedroom apartments would be on the second floor.

Four other requests for Special Permits were granted.

They were: 1. The request of Mary Linhares, 117 Fairhaven Road, who was seeking Project C.A.R.E.

An audience of about 60 parents, youth, school personnel, and other interested community members was on hand March 27th when the Tri-Town Drug Task Force launched its "Project C.A.R.E." (Chemical Abuse Reduction through Education) at the ORR Junior High Cafetorium.

Emcee Ed Jawor emphasized the importance of community awareness and involvement if the problem of substance abuse is to be addressed. He introduced the film, "Sons & Daughters, Drugs & Booze", a graphic presentation of how young people, even those from "good" families, can become enmeshed in the web of harmful chemicals. The film went on to show how parents can take steps to intervene when children do become harmfully involved.

Following the film, ORRHS members of S.A.D.D. (Students Against Drunk Driving) performed two skits. The students dramatized the common dilemma that arises when the party guest who has drunk too much alcohol insists on driving home. Cast members Ann Riedl, Tyler Barros, Kaaren Wileczka, Susan Herman, and Nat Siegel successfully managed to "disarm" the drunks by firmly but lovingly removing their keys and driving them home.

Featured speaker of the evening was Mr. Barry Bloom, a counselor and consultant in the field of substance abuse. Mr. Bloom stressed that while most adults use alcohol responsibly, there is a growing problem of abuse in four out of ten families in the northeast, the highest figure of any region in the U.S. The process of addiction, he explained, always worsens without intervention. Bloom further averred that addiction progresses much more rapidly in young people than in adults: the time from first experimentation to total chemical dependence could be just six months in a 15-year-old, while it might take several years for one in his twenties or thirties.

The audience was urged by Bloom to join in a cooperative school/community effort to create a program of education, prevention, and student assistance in grades K through 12. Such a program would include both positive prevention education to the population at risk, and student assistance to respond to behaviors of concern. While some of these components are currently in place in the region, Bloom noted, a comprehensive working program requires commitment and a minimum of three years' time to be properly developed. The end product, however, can really touch lives. When questioned regarding the value of bringing in speakers such as "Toma" to help combat substance abuse, Bloom replied that there are short-term positive results from such presentations; however, the same money ($5000 to $10,000) invested in a coordinated, ongoing program would have much more far-reaching and lasting effects.

Project C.A.R.E. welcomes your interest and participation. The next scheduled meeting will be April 25th at 7:30 p.m. in the ORRHS Cafeteria. For additional information: in Marion call Anne Shea, 748-being in Boise, Idaho in December 1981, when a group of men, women and children - 35 people - agreed to make a quilt to promote world peace. Their first quilt was a friendship quilt sent to the National Soviet Women's Committee in Moscow, and then to the Women's Committee in Alitus, Lithuania. Since then, the Boise Peace Quilters have made and presented seven other quilts to peace-makers whom they wished to honor. Their work has inspired local quilt groups across the country to join the network of peace-quilters whose influence as a "visible event" is daily gaining momentum.

The example of the Boise Peace Quilters has many facets. It is, of course, a newsworthy expression of the contemporary peace movement, but it is far more than that. It is an invitation to consider the potential of quilting, the power of the quilt, to preserve our history and our heritage by making new patterns out of old materials. The American patchwork quilt arose out of conditions that forced people to piece scraps together simply to survive. The patterns came later, out of their memories and experiences, and the art of quilting came to consist not only of needlework but of the ability to build upon, to grow out from, old patterns. With old quilts and inherited scrapbags generations of quilters

This is the design tradition from which the Boise Peace Quilters have sprung. To learn about them is to learn about the history of quilting, what it has meant for American communities, and what it can mean for every quilter.

Ready Helper", and "Be a Discoverer".

Under the leadership of Kris Brammer and Marsha Blouin, the 23 member Brownie Troop 158 has had a busy year. Besides enjoying the crafts and various field trips, the girls have also worked on several service projects. In October, with garbage bags in hand, they had a clean-up of Shipyard Park. Throughout the Fall they collected ring tabs from cans to donate to the Kidney Foundation. In December they hand-sewed 42 red and white felt stockings and then filled them with candy canes for the residents of the Mattapoisett Nursing Home. In February they made dozens of Valentine hearts used to decorate Joseph's Olde Tavern Inn. Now they are busy making "Bunny" Easter baskets out of milk cartons to be given to the 42 residents of the Mattapoisett Nursing Home. The various assortments of Easter candy used to fill the baskets were donated by Giles

Rosenshontz Returns

Back by popular demand will be "Rosenshontz" for weekend performances in this area on April 12, 13 and 14. The Rosenshontz family concert spans the generations. Youngsters, teenagers, and adults alike are swept into a positive sharing atmosphere of musical fun. Their music comprises many styles: it is folk overall, but rock, calypso, ballads and a nonsense song or two are thrown in just for fun. Their voices blend with a number of instruments including flute, clarinet, saxophone, and guitar. Their humor is natural and infectious. Gary Rosen and Bill Shontz, who comprise the team, have amassed numerous credits throughout the United States and Canada. They have appeared on radio, television, statewide conferences, and have brought live music education into over 1,000 schools.

BEYOND WAR is a grass-root movement of citizens who recognize that in the Nuclear Age national conflicts can no longer be resolved by war without risking global destruction. To survive, individuals and their societies must change their thinking and realize and act on the knowledge that war is obsolete and that humans are one and interdependent for their continuation into the future on our planet, the only home we have. The meetings are open to all. For further information telephone 758-4270 or 748-1176.

Marion Art Center

"WORKS ON PAPER, WORKS IN STONE"

"Works on Paper, Works in Stone" is the title of the up-coming three-man show at the Marion Art Center opening Friday, April 19th. The show features contemporary art in pastel, mixed media and marble and limestone. Carlyn Ekstrom works in the still life tradition using castoffs of urban life such as plastic bottles and foam wrappers as subject matter. Although machine made, Ms. Ekstrom sees these objects as resembling the symbols and design of ancient civilization. A self-taught artist with a BA from Vassar College, Carlyn has exhibited in the New England area as well as in Switzerland and Brazil.

Pam Santos, a graduate of the Swain School in New Bedford, works in mixed media. Her abstract creations are derived from landscape and combine silkscreen and linocut with pastels and acrylics.

Complementing the sculptural aspects of the hanging art will be marble sculptures by Michael Ernst. Originally from the west coast, Mr. Ernst has exhibited in California, Georgia, Vermont and many galleries throughout Massachusetts. His sculptures are sensual and monumental in polished marble as well as coarser shapes in limestone.

The gallery is open to the public Wednesday through Saturday, 1:00 to 4:00 p.m. There is no admission charge.

Crossword Tournament

The 6th Annual Crossword Puzzle Tournament for southeastern New England is scheduled for April 13th, according to an announcement just released by the originator and veteran director of the popular competition, Miss Hope Atkinson of Dartmouth.

Dr. Eugene T. Maleska, puzzle editor of the New York Times and dean of word-game authorities, will preside at the midday luncheon that follows the forenoon tourney. Starting at 9 a.m. it will be conducted in the community rooms on the ground floor of Southworth Library in South Dartmouth. Each contestant will be required to solve three puzzles specially selected from the works of nationally recognized crossword creators. The event is sponsored by non-profit Friends of the Dartmouth Libraries.

The locally-renowned Ladies Guild of Allen's Neck Meeting will provide the home-style food for the luncheon as well as a mid-morning coffee break with goodies.

Dr. Maleska, accompanied by his recently-wedded bride, will speak informally to the competitors after lunch and serve as master of ceremonies for the presentation of the four winners' awards. The veteran puzzle maker, who now makes his home in Wareham, has promised to unveil to the local aficionados a brand new type of word game he has devised, to conclude the afternoon program.

Persons wishing entry forms or further information may write to P.O. Box 11, Dartmouth, MA. 02714; or telephone 636-2215.

"MUSIC FOR MEDITATION"

To share in the observance of the Lenten season, the Unitarian Memorial Church of Fairhaven will be open for meditation and prayer on Good Friday, April 5th, from 3 to 5 p.m. Beginning at 4 p.m. Herbert H. Bowker, Organist, will play from the works of Bach, Barber, Walther, Marcello, Shure and two contemporary British composers, Gordon Jacobs and Arnold Cooke. Mr. Bowker has prepared program notes which include verses from the Psalms and other sources to accompany the musical selections. The Roche Organ that was installed in 1971 is an unusually beautiful instrument with fifty speaking stops and over three thousand pipes. Under the masterful touch of the player it brings great uplift and inspiration to all hearers.

An invitation is extended to the Churches and many friends throughout the community to unite for a period of spiritual renewal in this lovely Gothic sanctuary.

ORR STUDENTS RECEIVE CERTIFICATES

On Sunday, March 24th, at St. John's High School in Shrewsbury, Mass. Kaaren Wileczka and Michael Burnett were presented certificates in recognition for their selection to the All-State All Academic Basketball Team. Their selection to this team marked the first time Old Rochester students had received this prestigious honor.

To be nominated for consideration, the student-athlete had to have a combined S.A.T. score of 1100, rank in the top 25% of his/her class, have worthy basketball statistics and be recommended by his/her basketball coach. Because of the demanding criteria only 13 girls and 26 boys statewide were selected to the team.

Letters to The Editor

LETTER TO THE EDITOR

If my subject warrants a title it might well be "How to Raise a Juvenile Delinquent!"

A famous New York City Juvenile Judge, some years back, issued a statement that I believe warrants our serious consideration. This man had been a presiding justice in over ten thousand juvenile cases. He had traveled over most of the countries of the western world studying juvenile delinquency in an endeavor to find out, if possible, why crime on the part of youth has increased so drastically.

He found, by far, the lowest incidence of crime in Italy. Interestingly enough, in Italy he found what he believes to be the reason for this relatively low rate of juvenile delinquency. In Italy he found that the father was definitely the head of the home, and that there was no thought of challenging his decisions and orders. Here, the mother does not attempt to intercede against the will of the father. His word is law. The children from earliest childhood are thus brought up to respect the authority of the home. This respect for authority, inculcated at an early age, is transferred to the schools, and in turn carried over to respect for the laws of the society in which he lives, and respect for law enforcement officials.

When we look back to the earlier days of this Republic, we find that, like the Italy quoted above, the father was indeed the head of the household. And while he might have been a little bit of a tyrant at times, he generated respect for law, order and human decency.

If we would raise juvenile delinquents we can readily guarantee results by following the rules listed below:

1. Give a child everything he wants.
2. Laugh at his wise-acre actions, freshness and profanity.
3. Praise him in the presence of neighbors.
4. Never speak about wrong doing because of a possible guilt complex.
5. Always pick up his toys for him.
6. Let him read whatever he wants.
7. Give him plenty of spending money.
8. Do not require him to meet any standards of conduct or work.
9. Take his part against all comers.
10. Do not insist on his association with any church or Sunday School.
11. See that he witnesses plenty of quarreling between father and mother.
12. When he is in serious trouble throw up your hands and say, "I never could do anything with him anyway!"

If we are to improve our sad situation parents and teachers must remember the lessons of history, and listen to the truths told them by the Bible, and by their deepest instincts and intuitions in regard to child up-bringing, rather than follow the shallow sentimentality that is not true

EASTER MESSAGE

As the day we commemorate the Resurrection of Christ on Easter Sunday - and as the time for all nature to begin its resurrection - quoting the wisdom of Archbishop Fulton J. Sheen seems worthwhile though he is no longer with us except within his splendid books:

"Our Lord never sought to keep the poor satisfied with their poverty, nor the miserable satisfied with this misery, just because they were poor or because they were miserable. He glorified not the poor man, nor the rich man, but the poor man who was was not always poor; the poor man who once was rich; the poor man who by the law of detachment possessed everything because he desired nothing; the poor man who became poor, not by giving away his wealth, but by exchanging it for the incommensurable riches of heaven. And all this is only another way of saying, not 'Blessed are the Rich' nor 'Blessed are the Poor', but 'Blessed are the Poor in Spirit'."

A happy, joyous Easter to all - and a prayer for a just and true peace throughout the world - in our hearts, our homes, and especially our families.
